APPELLATION: Red Hills, Lake County, California

RANCH: 1,340 acres, straddling elevations from 1,800 to 2,200 feet and slopes of 15% to 85%; property includes the location of El Roble Grande, largest oak recorded in California; ranch is also home to a small herd of Scottish Highland cattle, three American Saddlebred horses, five American Quarterhorses and wildlife including bees, hawks, owls, bear, wild boar, bobcats, mountain lions and squirrels; guesthouse is a three-story hand-built traditional log home.

VINEYARDS: 18 acres currently planted:
Cabernet Sauvignon, 15 acres planted in 2001
Petite Sirah, 1 acre planted in 2007
Cabernet Franc, 1 acre planted in 2007
Petite Verdot, 1 acre planted in 2007

Soil is rocky, red volcanic soils consisting of Aiken, Collayomi, and Whispering loam. Lake County Diamonds, actually a form of silica used to make Biodynamic preparations, are abundant. They are a natural product from the ancient volcanic activity of nearby Mt. Konocti, a now dormant volcano.

FARMING: Biodynamic - Demeter-certified since 2008
Organic - California Certified Organic (CCOF) since 2004
Head trained, cane pruned
Trellis: VSP (Vertical Shoot Position)
Cabernet Sauvignon Clones: Entav 191, Entav 337, 15, 337
Rootstock: 101-14
Spacing: 5x8 (1,089 vines/acre)

NAME: The winery takes its name from the plentiful Red-Tail Hawks on the property as well as the ranch's history as an equestrian facility. Known as El Roble Grande in the 1960s and 1970s, the ranch was formerly an Arabian breeding estate. The Boies and Hawkins families maintain the original rustic elegance of the ranch and welcome visitors for tours and tastings. The equestrian elements of the ranch are now for private use only. The primary focus of the ranch is viticulture.

TASTING ROOM: Includes antique Victorian bar, Western and local memorabilia, historic photos, picnic area with horses grazing nearby ready to meet visitors

HOSPITALITY: Open for tours and tastings by appointment only
